Armi Perazzi introduces MR57, a new model developed through years of research, engineering, and direct testing on the shooting ranges.

Founded in 1957, Armi Perazzi has been a global benchmark in the production of high-end competition and hunting shotguns for nearly seventy years, building its reputation on results, innovation, and uncompromising craftsmanship.

MR57 follows the path set by founder Daniele Perazzi, interpreting his pioneering and unconventional spirit. An approach rooted in a clear vision: listening to shooters, observing performance in the range, and transforming experience into concrete technical solutions.

Sharper lines, a completely redesigned receiver, reengineered barrels, and a new balance configuration define a shotgun that rethinks the relationship between shooter and the shotgun. MR57 is not a stylistic exercise, but an evolved synthesis of functionality, control, and sensitivity.

With MR57, Armi Perazzi reaffirms its vocation: creating shotguns that express the identity of each shooter, through an advanced balance of artisanal tradition, technical research, and a contemporary vision.

That specific feeling.
Every single shot.
