

Technical Overview

MR57 represents the highest expression of Armi Perazzi's know-how, developed to optimize balance, control, and shooting performance.

The completely redesigned receiver allows for a more effective mass distribution, with a rearward balance that enhances stability, responsiveness, and consistency of movement, while reducing perceived recoil even during extended shooting sessions.

Redesigned forcing cones and ultra-light interchangeable chokes optimize shot pattern, velocity, and overall balance, without compromising reliability or durability.

Perazzi's proven mechanical system remains unchanged, confirming a long-established standard of reliability and longevity.

The barrels, entirely manufactured in-house from high-performance steel alloy, ensure ballistic consistency and allow the use of steel shot ammunition.

A custom-fitted stock is included. The ergonomics of both stock and fore-end have been redesigned to ensure continuity between balance, control, and the natural flow of the swing.

An essential, functional aesthetic, fully consistent with Perazzi's identity.
